Ray Olson's Wife, Frances, in Hayward, Wis., Jail

Hayward, Wis., Cabin Where Olson Killed Two Deputies

to kill" was slogan today of Hayward, Wis., posse as wild, wooded country was searched for Ray Olson, outlaw killer of two deputies and the "definitely established" kidnaper of Charles Mattson. Meanwhile, in Hayward jail, Olson's wife, Frances, waits stolidly as G-men enter the hunt.

CONVICT NAMED MATTSON KILLER

HAYWARD, Wis., June 20 (INS)—Ray Olson, sharpshooting killer of two sheriff's deputies, has been "positively identified" as the kidnaper-slayer of 10-year-old Charles Mattson, it was announced today by Sheriff George Seehueter, who for three days has led a 400-man posse through the wilds of northern Wisconsin in a grim hunt for the murderer.

Sheriff Seehueter's statement was made before he led his men once more into the fastnesses of the Big Moose Lake country 40 miles east of Hayward after Olson for the third day had eluded his heavily armed pursuers by laying an elaborately false trail through the forest.

Carl Johnson

(The kidnap-slaying of Charles Mattson was one of the most brutal in American criminal history. The boy was seized December 27, 1936, in the home of his father, Dr. W. W. Mattson, at Tacoma, Wash., as he was playing with his Christmas toys.)

The kidnaper stole into the house, seized Charles while his brother and sister, William, 16, and Muriel, 14, and a neighbor girl, watched in horror, and dragged the boy out of the house. The kidnaper demanded $25,000 ransom but before contact could be made Charles' cruelly beaten body was found the following January 11, in a ditch near Everett, Wash. Hunt for the murderer has continued ever since.)

HOLDS 'POSITIVE PROOF'

"It has been definitely established that Olson is the Mattson kidnaper, declares Sheriff Seehueter. His facial markings are identical and he has been positively identified. Prior to identification we established that he was on the West Coast at the time of the kidnaping. Now we know he is the man."

G-MEN IN CASE

Asked who identified Olson, a former convict, as the Mattson kidnaper, Seehueter replied:

"I can't answer that. The matter is no longer in my hands."

This statement was taken to mean that the Federal Bureau of Investigation had entered the case, but the FBI itself had no immediate comment on this development. At the same time District Attorney J. C. Davis announced that Olson also was sought on a murder charge in Michigan City, Ind., but the official refused to name the murdered man or give any details of the case.

SEEN AS DESPERADO

As the charges against Olson piled up, authorities quickly dropped the idea that he merely was a small time thief gone berserk. He first was sought only on a petty larceny charge but escaped and stole an auto. Seized on Thursday in the stolen car, Olson again made good his escape although his wife, Frances, 20, was arrested and awaits prosecution in Hayward.

A posse of nine Saturday trapped Olson in a shack but again he fled, after killing two of the possemen, Carl Johnson and Fred Scott, with blasts from a shotgun. Throughout Saturday, Sunday and Monday the search for the killer continued through the lake-strewn Chippewa flowage country, but Olson escaped every trap.

FUGITIVE'S CAR—Escaping in this stolen car which he later abandoned, Ray Olson, identified as the kidnaper-slayer of Charles Mattson and killer of two possemen, was today being hunted in the wilds of Wisconsin.

2 P. C. WAGE TAX URGED TO RAISE STATE AID FUND

A proposal for a $35,000,000 public welfare fund, financed by a 2 per cent payroll tax, today was introduced into the Legislature as a means of relieving Massachusetts communities from their relief burdens.

Under the plan proposed by Senators Chester T. Skibinski of Chicopee and Wilfred P. Bazinet of Webster receipts from the fund would be administered by the state treasurer and turned over to cities and towns to pay for all expenditures incurred for old age assistance, welfare, mothers' aid, medical services for welfare recipients and cost of placing indigent persons at the Tewksbury Infirmary.

"GOVERNOR'S WISHES"

In announcing their bill the senators stated:

"We are advancing it merely as a suggestion in accordance with the Governor's wishes (for alternative tax proposals). If this plan does not prove to be the proper solution of the revenue raising problem, then we will gladly withdraw it in favor of an alternative program, provided it can be proved more equitable."

"Every individual who is gainfully employed should feel duty bound to contribute his proportionate share of his earnings to take care of the public welfare burden."

"Under this plan a maximum two per cent state tax would be levied on the wages of every employee and would be collected by the employer in the same manner as Social Security taxes."

CITE INDUSTRIAL BURDEN

The senators pointed out that certain "sheltered communities" in the state, such as Wellesley, Winchester, Milton and Brookline, spend only a slight share of the tax rate for welfare, whereas industrial communities like Hudson, Haverhill, Lowell and Fall River pay 25 per cent or more of their taxes for welfare assistance.

"Public welfare, especially in the industrial areas, is on the increase. Real estate taxes are becoming unbearable. Industry is leaving our state, valuations are decreasing, property owners are losing their life savings. Rents are rising."

"Our people are becoming desperate. Communities are becoming insolvent because of the huge welfare burden. Some equitable means of evenly distributing the overwhelming welfare load must be reached."

Squalus' Last Dive Had Been About Her Best, Naquin Says

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 20 (AP)—Lieutenant Oliver F. Naquin, commander of the sunken submarine Squalus, brought to a naval court of inquiry today a message from a man now dead—a report from the one officer who perished that his part of the ship was "rigged" or ready for the final, fatal dive May 23.

The officer was Ensign Joseph W. Patterson of Oklahoma City, in charge of the after compartments which subsequently were flooded, trapping him and 25 others at their posts as the Squalus plunged to the bottom in 240 feet of water.

In measured sentences Naquin detailed the preparations for the final dive. Lieut. J. C. Nichols of Chicago was in charge of the forward part of the ship, and Lieut. William T. Doyle of Baltimore, second in command to Naquin, was diving officer.

"HER BEST DIVE"

"I did not personally witness reports to the diving officers," Naquin told the court, "but I am told 15th Nichols and Patterson reported to Lieutenant Doyle that their compartments were ready for rigging."

"We got down to 50 feet and I had time to comment that the dive was better than earlier dives and then I walked over to the periscope, and it was not until then that any pressure was felt in our ears, and reports were received of trouble aft."

Newsmen leaned forward as Naquin came to the point of describing the dramatic moments that followed—what happened during the 150-foot descent to the ocean floor and the long hours that followed before help arrived—but suddenly he stopped.

DIVES WITHOUT TROUBLE

He explained this part of his story had been told to the court yesterday, before reporters were admitted to the hearing.

Soon afterward the spectators became tense once more as Naquin said adjustments had been necessary on the main induction valve, the surface air intake which has been credited by some high officers as the cause of the tragedy.

But here again the Squalus commander added that the equipment in question had been completely dismantled and re-assembled, and that 10 dives had been made after this, without trouble of any kind.

"There has been informal talk," he said, "about an unfavorable history of the main engine induction valve. To the best of my knowledge and belief there never has been any mechanical difficulty in connection with the closing of this valve."

VALVE FULLY REPAIRED

"On the other hand, on completion of our builders' trials certain work was done on the induction valve. This work was requested by me because of the failure of this latch to hold open the valve."

"This work was done. On our return to the yard the gear was completely disassembled and inspected by the yard personnel and myself."

In response to questions Naquin said he believed he had an "exceptional crew," and that his officers were "all well and qualified for their duties" on the day of the final dive.

Earlier, he testified the Squalus had performed flawlessly during more than a dozen dives prior to the tragedy.

Manton Gets 2 Years in Prison

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Martin T. Manton, former judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, was sentenced today to two years in a federal prison and fined $10,000.

It was the maximum sentence possible under his conviction for conspiracy to sell judicial favors.

Kiwanians Hear Green Blast Isms

Attacking all forms of totalitarian government as the destroyer of workers' freedom and abolition, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared today that his organization was irrevocably committed to the preservation of a democratic government in this country.

More than 5000 American and Canadian delegates to the 23rd Kiwanis International convention heard Green assert that the A. F. of L. "preaches and practices democracy and will not exchange it for any autocracy, whether it be called Communism, Fascism or Nazism."

WARNS OF DICTATORS

"Working people," said Green, "accept as a priceless heritage the principles of freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly and freedom in the exercise of the right to worship."

"Dictators in totalitarian countries recognize the devotion of trades unions to democratic principles. This recognition is quickly transformed into action. Workers' organizations are always first to be wiped out by dictatorial decrees."

"It happened in Germany, Italy and Russia. Funds of trade unions were seized, their property confiscated and their leaders executed or imprisoned in concentration camps."

BACK AMERICAN IDEALS

"The American Federation of Labor has developed an economic philosophy during the 60 years of its existence which is in complete accord with American ideals and principles."

"We will reverse and hold sacred those eternal truths set forth in the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights."

"Because of this exalted value

HELEN JOHNSON
Biles Actor at Stage Union Meeting

Last Red Hot Mama, Stars Flee Actors' Union Harmony Riot

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—A "harmony" meeting of the American Federation of Actors called by President Sophie Tucker broke up in disorder early today with the "Last of the Red-Hot Mamas" and a group of Broadway stars hurrying from the scene.

Among those who ducked out with Sophie were Harry Richman, Morton Downey, Comedian Milton Berle and Rudy Vallee.

Three police cars sped to the hotel where the meeting was held to quell the disturbance, but no arrests were made. The chief casualty was Ernie Mack, a mimic, who said he had been bitten by Helen Johnson, blond Texas showgirl and supporter of the Tucker faction.

The meeting had been called by Miss Tucker to hear her reply to charges by the parent union, the Associated Actors and Artists of America (A. F. L.), that A. F. A. officials had misdirected the union's relief funds into other organizational activities.

Sudden termination of the meeting prevented a move by Miss Tucker's backers to ask for a vote of confidence in her.

"Since I have been your president—nearly three years—we have built the strongest actors' union in America, and I want to tell you I never received a penny for my work," she said. "A study of the charges reveals that the only reason we are being attacked is because of our success in organizing..."

A few moments later, despite a plea for peace by Bill Robinson, Negro dancing star, the session was plunged into a general uproar by an altercation between Mack and Miss Johnson.

Miss Tucker and other notables left as the disorder and shouting spread.

Most vociferous objectors to the A. F. A. leadership were members of the Billy Rose Aquacade troupe at the New York World's Fair.

Mike Lewis, a swimmer, said that almost half of the Aquacade performers were suffering from ear infections and that the union "has done nothing to investigate the water that is responsible for the trouble."

The A. F. A.—Eddie Cantor is honorary president—clairs a membership of 12,573 actors and night club entertainers. A hearing of the charges made by the parent A. A. A. is scheduled for July 10.

Two armed bandits—each about 30 years old, slipped into a chain grocery store at Boylston and Ferry streets, Malden today, held up the establishment for $40 and escaped in the manager's car.

The youths, each with a handkerchief over his face, took $25 from the register and $15 and the keys to his car from Manager Timothy J. Driscoll. One of the men was about five feet seven inches tall, and weighed about 160 pounds, he said.

Cambridge Society Girl Kills Self in N. H.

Miss Ernesta Greene, 23-year-old society girl, daughter of Henry Copley Greene, Cambridge author and historian, shot and killed herself today at the family summer home in Dublin, N. H.

The report of the shooting was given out by Medical Referee Arthur F. Weston of Dublin, who said the fatal wound was "self-inflicted."

Pending a full report by the medical referee, however, details of the shooting were vague.

No reason for the death of the society girl has been found, according to her sister, Mrs. George Morgan of Durham, N. C., who said she was at the Dublin summer home with Ernesta, and their mother when the tragedy occurred but who returned today to the Greene home in Longfellow park, Cambridge.

FATHER IN FRANCE

The young society woman, teacher for the past year at the exclusive Shady Hill School in Cambridge, from where she was graduated 10 years ago, had gone to Dublin only last week with the mother and sister.

The father, former member of the Boston Art Commission and the Massachusetts Commission for the Blind, is in France and is not due home until next week.

Under the title of "editor," he has an office in the Widener Library at Harvard, where he has charge of a historical reference council and does historical research work for colleges and schools.

Mrs. Greene is the former Rosamond Hindekoper of Boston. A cousin of the dead girl, Miss Rosalind Hindekoper, went to England with an Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy as one of his secretaries when he was given that post.

SISTERS NOTIFIED

In addition to Mrs. Logan, the dead girl has two other sisters, Miss Katrine Greene of New York and Mrs. Gordon Sweet of Mt. Carmel, Conn.

They were on their way to Boston today after being notified of the tragedy.

Ernesta was described today by her society friends as a quiet and retired young woman who took little active part in social life.

Her first school was Shady Hill, they said, and when she was graduated from there at the age of 13 she went to France for three years and obtained treatment for a tubercular knee.

When she returned she attended the May School in the Back Bay, went to Radcliffe for two years and later was graduated from Bennington College at Bennington, Vt. Funeral services were set tentatively for tomorrow at the Cambridge home, and they will be strictly private, according to Mrs. Morgan.

Lay Murder, Suicide to Job Worry

A fit of depression, brought about by money worries, caused John Sweeney, 30-year-old South Boston husband, to choke his baby with death and then commit suicide, police believed today.

Bodies of Sweeney and the little boy were found by Mrs. Dora Sweeney, wife and mother of the victim, when she returned to the family's apartment in Old Harbor Village, federal model housing settlement, after an evening at the movies.

The little boy, Robert, three, had been strangled in his crib. The body of Sweeney lay half submerged in a filled bathtub, a leather belt knotted about the throat.

Near collapse today, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sweeney said she knew of no motive for her husband's tragic acts.

He had been worried about his job as a rug salesman, but had seemed otherwise cheerful, she told police.

Mrs. Sweeney's trip to the movies was with Mrs. Laura Fay, a next-door neighbor.

Mrs. Fay's husband, Edward, visited Sweeney during the evening and suggested a game of cards, he said, but Sweeney told him he was tired and thought he'd go to bed.

Former Methuen Girl Killed, Student Hurt

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—A woman was killed and a 19-year-old student was seriously injured last night when their automobile crashed into trees.

The woman was Hazel Schwarzenberg, 30, a Valhalla beauty shop owner, formerly of Methuen, Mass. Charles Kirby, a University of Nebraska student, was in serious condition today in St. Agnes Hospital. A third member of the party, Ralph W. Havery, 19, White Plains High School senior, was uninjured.

Objectives of a search on land, sea and in the air—by Coast Guards, National Guards, police and firemen of Gloucester and nearly 200 volunteers—the boys and the pup were sighted shortly after noon by the tower watch at Merrimack River Coast Guard station, Plum Island.

Ever as the Coast Guard in the tower gave the alarm to his mates and turned his powerful glass back on the punt a mile out at sea, the tiny craft capsized in the rough water, throwing out the boys and the black-and-white dog.

When the Coast Guard motor surfboat reached the scene, the boys—Edward, Amero, 11, and James McLeod, 13, both of Essex street, Gloucester—were clinging to the overturned boat and holding up the bedraggled pup between them.

Back to the Coast Guard station, on the north end of Plum Island and about 15 miles from the boys' starting point yesterday, young McLeod was discovered to have a slight fever and was put to bed. Amero and the dog, however, went to work on the station's under and were reported by the Coast Guard to be eating everything in sight.

Fay High Officials for Delay In 'Doll Girl' Slaying Probe

MAUCH CHUNG, Pa., June 20—Failure of Governor Arthur H. James, Attorney-General Claude Reno or any other in high authority to act toward speedy grand jury inquiry into the shooting of "doll girl" 14-year-old Joan Stevens by Corporal Ben Franklin, of the State Constabulary, increased public indignation today.

If either fails to act, it was pointed out, a grand jury is not likely until next fall. Nor can District Attorney Heimbach, who has done nothing, be superseded in the investigation until such action is taken by the attorney-general.

DEMAND FULL PROBE
The citizens' justice committee, made up by friends and neighbors of the Stevens family in Nesquehoning, has started a drive for funds, and is circulating a petition to force quicker action.

Baring of sworn testimony at the inquest into the child's death shot eight times while in the back seat of a police automobile—revealed that Corporal Franklin declared, without qualification, at the inquest hearing the little girl threatened him with an "automatic" and that he "shot in self-defense."

It was brought out at the time that the "automatic" was a toy pistol.

The shooting took place almost two weeks ago when the girl, according to Franklin and Trooper Edward Swatki, who drove the car, met them by appointment to supply information about a supposed bank robbery.

The child, according to the troopers' stories, threatened them before Franklin fired at her.

G-MEN MAY AID PROBE
Never in Pennsylvania has a case aroused so much interest, nor caused so much smoldering indignation. Resisting Nesquehoning are determined there shall be a complete investigation.

Decision was expected shortly on whether federal agents will intervene in the investigation of the slaying.

A federal agent from the FBI's Scranton office has already conferred with Special Counsel James McCready, and it was understood final decision must come from Washington headquarters.

McCready, who was brought into the case by the "justice committee," said he had asked G-men to investigate a trip the Stevens girl took to New York last April with Lucy Pavashian, 21, and Joseph Vrabel, 22, both of Nesquehoning.

Meanwhile, Miss Pavashian and Vrabel were released in $500 bail each for the October grand jury on charges of enticing a minor.

12 Open Questions In Slaying of Girl

MAUCH CHUNG, Pa., June 20—Here are 12 unanswered questions about the killing of Joan Stevens, 14, grammar school girl, by Corporal Benjamin Franklin of the Pennsylvania Motor Police.

- 1—If Joan threatened him with a toy pistol, why did the corporal call it "an automatic" when he testified under oath at the coroner's inquest?
- 2—Why was neither the toy nor the real automatic with which Corporal Franklin riddled the child exhibited to the coroner's jury?
- 3—Why did District Attorney Albert Heimbach refrain from putting a single question to the corporal at the inquest after Franklin gave his own version of the killing?
- 4—Why were Joan's parents not told it was their daughter who was slain until next day, although they stood among the crowd outside the funeral parlors where lay the riddled corpse?
- 5—Why was it not brought out at the coroner's inquest whether Patrolman Edward Swatki, the corporal's companion, also was armed?
- 6—Why was no autopsy performed, so that Joan's body had to be exhumed from the grave before the two bullets which remained in her 87-pound body were recovered?
- 7—Why did the district attorney and Major William Clarke, regional commander of the state police, say originally that Joan

- had been shot "about four times"?
- 8—Why did not County authorities, who had jurisdiction, arrest Corporal Franklin at the scene of the homicide instead of letting him spend the night at the sub-station, where he himself was in command, and surrender next day?
- 9—Why did days elapse before the District Attorney assembled essential pieces of evidence and why is the car in which the killing occurred still in the hands of State Police, unrecovered bullets still in the upholstery?
- 10—Why was the Corporal, under $5000 bond on a homicide charge, permitted to return to duty and not be suspended until public indignation crystallized a week after the shooting?
- 11—Why were so many persons, connected officially and unofficially with the case, sworn to secrecy by the State Police?
- 12—Why wasn't Dr. J. J. McDonald, the physician who saw Joan just after the shooting and who pronounced her dead, called to testify at the inquest? Why wasn't Dr. Robert F. Mitchell, who examined the body for the District Attorney's office, questioned at the inquest as to the number of bullets which struck the victim?

HAMMER KILLER'S FLIGHT BOWS KIN

MARYSVILLE, O., June 20 (AP)—A deepening mystery, revolving around a couple of keys, confronted authorities today as they sought to learn how Mrs. Velma West, husband hammer-slayer of the flapper era, and three other inmates escaped from the State Reformatory for Women "for one little adventure."

"They had to have keys to get out, but no keys are missing," said Mrs. Marguerite Reiley, superintendent of the institution, shortly after she ordered three women sent to correction cells "until they tell me what they know."

Mrs. Reiley said the three placed in correction cells, whom she refused to identify, slept in a corridor through which Mrs. West, 33-year-old woman from Painesville, O., slipped to freedom with the other inmates early yesterday.

Hope that the fugitive slayer would soon give herself up was expressed by her mother, Mrs. Bert

Van Weert of Cleveland, who despaired over the situation, "but I hope they'll get them."

"She'll give herself up in a few days, anyway," Mrs. Weert added. "I think she just wanted a few days to look at the world again. She is still young, but she sees her youth going. Twelve years is a long time. She was getting very nervous and losing weight. I doubt if she weighs 100 pounds."

"We were beginning to live almost normal lives. But now our house number is again to be stared at. They stare and whisper. I've been sitting here all day. I've cried out all my tears. I wonder where she is."

To make their escape, Mrs. West and her companions had to unlock doors to their cells and a door leading from the cell blocks in which they were confined.

The reformatory yard was open. Fleeing with Mrs. West were Virginia Bradley, 19, of Akron, O., sentenced as an incorrigible; Florence Shelton, 23, of Gallipolis, O., convicted of breaking and entering; and Mary Ellen Richards, 23, of Cincinnati, sentenced for robbery.

In a three-page note left for Mrs. Reiley, Mrs. West complained of "pain in this body of mine."

"I don't know how to tell you just how I feel—I am being torn two different ways—my desire not to hurt you and my folks whom I love—and my desire to have just one little adventure before I get too old and too dulled by pain to ever enjoy life," the note said.

Senate Group Speeds Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, June 20 (INS)—With a burst of speed the Senate finance committee today started the new "business appeasement" tax bill rolling toward final passage by the Senate in record-breaking time. The measure may reach President Roosevelt for his signature by the week's end.

The committee, in executive session, decided against holding hearings on the bill, which was passed by the House last night with only a single vote against it, and strove to complete a favorable report by this afternoon.

'Swing It Sweet' At Webb's Bier

BALTIMORE, June 20 (AP)—They played it muted and "sweet" today while the mightiest swing-makers gathered at the bier of Chick Webb.

The band which the little colored boy with hunched shoulders drummed in the "hottest" in the country was to play a medley of Webb's songs—in solemn tempo—at church services this afternoon. Ella Fitzgerald, with whom Webb wrote "A-tink-a-tink," decided to sing "My Buddy" after discarding "Have Mercy," another song co-authored by Webb.

Hub Seeks $200,000 For Tunnel Deficit

Boston officials and legislators today asked the joint ways and means committee of the legislature to approve a bill for distribution of $200,000 from the state highway fund to the city to help meet the operating deficit of the East Boston traffic tunnel.

BUCKNER PARTIES IN HOTELS BARED

NEW YORK, June 20 (INS)—A trail of bondholders' checks, empty champagne bottles and broken furniture was left at New York and Washington hotels in the summer of 1937 by William P. Buckner, Jr., and William J. Gillespie, two of the five defendants facing charges of engineering a million-dollar fraud in Philippine railroad bonds, it was disclosed in Federal court today.

From the credit managers of the hotels, U. S. Assistant District Attorney William P. Maloney drew testimony that the youthful and debonaire Buckner offered bondholders' checks signed by himself and Gillespie in payment for expenses of more than $1000.

SMILE AT TESTIMONY

In addition, it was testified several of the committee's checks were made out to cash and these totaled approximately $1400.

During the offering of the hotel testimony smiles were exchanged by the three other defendants, Felipe Buencamino, member of the Philippine legislature, Charles W. Turner, a broker, and John S. Hyde, film producer and actor. The bills itemized dinners, cocktails, wines, champagne and bromo seltzers, signed for by Buckner, son of a wealthy insurance family. Both the jury and the defense battery indulged in smiles at the mention of the "hang-over" remedies.

AWAIT STARS' STORIES

The packed courtroom showed little interest in the recital of how Buckner, friend of Hollywood celebrities, and his co-defendant had signed checks.

The audience has seen Broadway showgirls and a screen star—Frank Morgan—and looked forward to the expected appearance of Actor Herbert Marshall and Actress Miriam Hopkins.

James R. Hickerson, credit manager for a Washington hotel, said that a "Mr. and Mrs. William P. Buckner, Jr." registered on July 12, 1937, and ran up a bill that day for $108.

Buckner, unmarried and coupled romantically with screen actress Loretta Young, smiled when Hickerson mentioned the registration card.

The furniture smashing incident, testified Dorothy Maddox, a New York hotel credit manager, occurred July 20, 1937, after champagne, other liquors and food were served in Buckner's suite.

Loretta Young Denies She's to Wed

HOLLYWOOD, June 20 (INS)—Loretta Young, beautiful film star reported to have been engaged to William P. Buckner, Jr., playboy defendant in New York's million-dollar Philippine bond fraud case, had two denials to make in Hollywood today.

"I am not engaged to marry anyone," she said. Then she declared she did not intend to fly East for the trial and has not been subpoenaed.

She also explained why Buckner "spent time" at her house, as disclosed at the promoter's trial. "Mr. Buckner," she said, "was a friend, so mother and I gave him our guest house in which to live for a month last summer."

Bartholomews Sue for Million

LOS ANGELES, June 20 (AP)—Parents of Freddie Bartholomew filed suit for $1,000,000 damages today, charging fraud and conspiracy to take the juvenile screen actor from them and divide his earnings.

Defendants include the boy's guardian, Mylicent Mary Bartholomew, sister of Freddie's father, Cecil Lewellyn Bartholomew, Isaac Pacht, attorney who once represented the father in litigation, and several John and Jane Does. The parents charged the defendants conspired to cause them to lose the boy's affection.

Radcliffe

After a pair round of reunions, Radcliffe College alumnae today feted seniors whose college days end with commencement exercises tomorrow.

Among those to be awarded degrees is Miss Elena Zarudnaya of Manchuria, but it will be as Mrs. Harry Tuchman Levin that she accepts her certificate if plans go through as expected.

The couple have taken out wedding intentions and are scheduled to be married by Frederick H. Burke, Cambridge city clerk, tomorrow morning—just an hour before commencement exercises. Levin is a fellow of Harvard College.

Gaiety was the keynote at the traditional "king" held last night in the dimly lit college yard. The gaiety of a college dance was mingled with the sad sentimentality of leave-taking in the ceremonies which were attended by parents and friends of the graduates and by the faculty of the college.

The seniors wore academic robes over their full-skirted evening gowns while they entertained with singing on the steps of Ames House. Miss Helen Ball, president of the freshman class, in a striking gown of red which contrasted with the academic garb of the seniors, accepted the class banner from Miss Kathleen Dundy, president of the graduating class.

Governor Saltonstall, awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws, declared he neither knew or cared about the present GOP Presidential picture. He said he was concerned with improving the government of Massachusetts and injecting character and clean management into its affairs.

Degrees were awarded to 132 undergraduates.

1,750,000 Grads a Job Problem

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Job-hunting graduates this summer face brighter prospects than a year ago, federal officials agreed today, but the outlook still appears rather dark to those who are studying the problem.

High schools are graduating 1,100,000. Some 130,000 are finishing college. Subtract a third of the former who will go on to college, but add the thousands who dropped out of school during the year. That makes about 1,750,000 hunting jobs, the American Youth Commission estimates.

In their favor is an apparent improvement in the general employment picture. For seven months placements of the United States employment service have exceeded those of the same months a year earlier. May placements in private industry—242,490—hit a new high for the year. Youths between 16 and 24, a fourth of the labor market total, doubt-dily got some of those jobs.

Those just getting out of college can take heart from studies which show that employers hiring college people have a habit of referring recent, just-off-the-graduates to those of other years still job-hunting.

Aubrey Williams, national youth administrator, said:

"College graduates have brighter prospects this year than at any time since 1928, especially if they are prepared for professions or vocations. But high school graduates are a very serious problem."

BARE FEAR IN PARDON INQUIRY

"Fear of reprisals from the underworld" has caused several witnesses to ask to be excused from appearing at public hearings before the legislative "pardon probe" commission, it was revealed today.

These "nervous" witnesses include a number who gave valuable information when questioned by the commission behind closed doors, according to one investigator.

It was further revealed today that there would be public "surprises" when the list of witnesses to appear at open hearings is announced.

SURPRISE WITNESSES

Names of several of these witnesses have not been mentioned in connection with the probe, it was officially stated.

Public hearings likely will not begin before late next week.

"We will probably wait until hearings in the outer case of Public Works Commissioner Calahan are concluded," one member of the pardons probe commission said.

He asserted that Executive Council Frank H. Brooks, who voted against the much criticized Raymond L. S. Patriarca pardon, would be one of the pardons probe witnesses.

TO CALL BACKUS

Another witness to be questioned by the commission is John H. Backus, present chief of the "blue sky" division, who investigated pardons under former Gov. James M. Curley. He will be questioned concerning his investigation of the pardon of John Tartar, convicted slayer of his pretty young sweetheart. He advised against the pardon.

Special investigators for the commission, it was learned, have located two or three missing witnesses for whom the commission has been searching, and arrangements have been made to obtain testimony from them later in the week.

DELAY TAX LEVY ACTION

Massachusetts Federation of Labor won't act on the proposed tax levy for welfare until after the state convention early in August. They have tentatively proposed a levy of one per cent on employees and a similar tax on employers.

Recluse Dead Amid Photos of Old Time Police

She was a quiet little old lady, about whom the neighbors never learned much. She lived alone in Haviland street, Back Bay, and it was agreed that she must have been at least 75, maybe 80. Sunday afternoon she was around as usual. Then, today, people remembered they hadn't seen her, and started an inquiry. She was found dead alone in her apartment.

She was listed as Mrs. Lillie J. McGinnis, and some said she had a brother, E. M. Hamilton, in Milw. Me.

But in the apartment, on the walls and in cubbyholes, were photographs, dozens of them, of old-time Boston policemen, gray helmets and all.

There were many pictures of one, sturdy and strong, but there was no identification of any of them.

MURPHY AIMS TO RID U. S. OF SPES IN YEAR

Finds Nation Lax In Espionage Drive

By L. E. CLAYPOOL

Special to Boston Evening American

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—"Within a year every major foreign spy in America will be rounded up and brought to justice."

That is the promise made by Atty. Gen. Frank Murphy who has found out during his short term in office that America has been and still is what Congressman Thomas B. Parks of Arkansas recently called "a happy hunting ground for foreign spies."

"There is no gainsaying the fact that this country has been lax in its treatment of the espionage problem," said Murphy, adding:

"But believe me we now have it under control."

In predatory and ravenous hordes, spies of all kinds have swarmed over America's lush reaches, marching into public offices, into factories, into navy yards, army camps and forests, into legislatures and other lawmaking bodies.

From almost every country under the sun they have come.

Almost every nation with an axe to grind or secrets to learn, has sent its emissaries. Sometimes they have been smuggled in and dodged furtively up back alleys.

Communist Russia has sent her provocateurs, bribers and snoopers.

Nazi Germany has sent her "spies."

Japan has sent her smiling sleuths with their ubiquitous cameras.

Italy, France, Poland, Greece, China, Red Spain and other countries have sent their agents.

And meanwhile, America has been asleep, or nearly so, lulled by the naive belief that nobody would hurt us or be so mean as to want to.

Now and then this nation, or that has been singled out by the President or by the spokesman of some group alert to its own interests, as being dangerous. For a while we wined alarm and then fell back into our trance forgetting that ALL foreign nations were watching; forgetting it wasn't just Nazi Germany that threatened us or just the Japanese.

LEARNED "HARD WAY"
That is not merely a guess. It is a sad discovery that Uncle Sam has made the hard way. It took sabotage, violence, treason, scandal, court trials and finally a congressional investigation to prove it. Still there are many who don't see it.

Here are some of the facts revealed from officials about spies who were loose clever and hence got caught, listed by the nations they represented:

Japanese:
1935—Teruo Muramatsu jailed in San Diego, Cal., after taking photographs of fortifications. He was later released by federal authorities and committed suicide.

1936—John S. Farnsworth, former lieutenant commander in the U. S. Navy, sentenced in Washington, D. C., to four to 12 years for selling naval secrets to Japan.

JAPS MAKE DRAWINGS
Harry Thomas Thompson, 37, discharged U. S. Navy yeoman, sentenced in Los Angeles to 15 years in prison for selling navy secrets to a Japanese navy officer. A pretty Oriental woman was used romantically in the deal. A Japanese officer was convicted with him.

Naobunza Tsumura and Miss Tonie Yanari, arrested in Davenport, Ia., for allegedly attempting to photograph a government arsenal at Rock Island, Ill. Camera confiscated and couple later released.

Two Japanese "salesmen" arrested in Canal Zone, charged with making drawings and notes on fortifications under orders from high Japanese naval officers.

1927—Japanese intelligence officers allegedly found in Alaskan waters disguised as fishermen. Representative Strovich (D.), New York, charged that Japanese espionage in Alaska was extensive and that airfields and submarine bases were plotted.

"Captain George" Yuichi Osawa held in San Francisco as leader of vast international spy plot heading up in Cuba. Later released.

1938—Japanese fishing fleet—more than 500 boats—off the Pacific coast from Alaska to Lower California allegedly spy on the United States fleet, had coast and military establishments, federal officials assert.

Two Japanese spy bases located by Navy intelligence in the Caribbean.

German:
1938—Eighteen persons indicted in New York as members of vast Nazi spy ring planning to steal American military secrets. Love and intrigue played a part in the plot that surpassed fiction.

Ultimately convicted were Erich Glaser, former U. S. Army aviation corps private; Otto Hermann Voss and Johanna Hoffman, hair dresser on the S. S. Bremen; Gustav Gunther Rummich, 32, native of Chicago, confessed. All received prison sentences. The big fellows escaped, most of them running away to Germany.

Four Germans, one of them a woman, were arrested in the Canal Zone by United military authorities when they were discovered taking pictures of vital gun emplacements at Fort Randolph. They were Hans Schackow, Robert Tubrig, Gesbertgross and Miss Ingeborg Guttman. Schackow and Tubrig were convicted and sentenced to prison. The other two got off.

Two German-born employees of the Seversky Aircraft Corporation at Farmdale, L. I., plant were arrested on charges of delivering and inducing others to deliver to "agents of a foreign power" certain documents, writings, code books, signal books, photographs, instruments and information relating to the defense of the United States.

Soviet Union:
1938—1939—More subtle and careful than the Nazis the spies of Russia have in most instances that have come to federal attention avoided arrest. Or, when arrested, squads of high pressure attorneys, provided by organizations with long names, have come to their rescue.

The outstanding instance of Soviet espionage that has received official attention was the case of Mikhail Gorin and Hafis Salich convicted in Los Angeles federal court of conspiring to obtain U. S. navy secrets for use by the Soviet Union.

Salich, a naturalized American citizen, former respected Berkeley, Calif., police officer and once a U. S. Navy intelligence officer, obtained Navy secrets and sold them to Gorin, a Soviet consular official, for $1700. The men received long prison terms.

CONNOLLY TO FACE TAX PROBE BY U. S.

Federal agents of the intelligence unit, Internal Revenue Department, from Washington, will sit in at supreme court removal proceedings against John Patrick Connolly, clerk of superior court, it was learned today.

The interest of the special agents, it is understood, will be in some allegedly received by Clerk Connolly from employees in his department and not accounted for in his income tax returns.

It is understood also, that federal agents are checking banking records for deposits which may have been made, even under other names.

Connolly goes before the full bench of Supreme court Monday on an information filed against him by the Boston Bar Association.

His removal as court clerk is sought by the bar association on charges that ever since his election in 1936 he has "extorted or caused to be extorted money from employees of the office" to build up a campaign fund of from $20,000 to $22,000 for his "re-election" in 1940.

The bar association alleges employees were threatened with dismissal unless they paid, and that funds were collected regularly in the clerk's office "on or about each payday."

SHARP U. S. PROTEST PUT UP TO JAPANESE EMPEROR

By JAMES R. YOUNG

International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, June 20.—On the heels of two stern American protests over Japan's "incredible" activities in China, Foreign Minister Hiroshi Arima called upon Emperor Hirohito at the imperial palace today, foreshadowing some major move in the Far East's latest crisis.

Advice and counsel of the emperor is sought only when the government is about to embark upon a decisive move. It was assumed Arima was to inform the emperor whether or not the civilian government was prepared to support fully the king's demand for liquidation of British interests in China unless Britain abandoned its alleged "pro-Chiang Kai-Shek attitude."

Before seeing the emperor, Arima gave the cabinet a full report on the situation at blockaded Tientsin in conjunction with developments in Europe.

U. S. IN 2 PROTESTS

In the course of a day packed with tense developments the United States charge d'affaires prevented two written protests against Japanese bombings of American property and against isolation of Amoy's International Settlement on the island of Kulangsu.

Soon afterward British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie again called at the foreign office and for the third time asked Arima to put an end to discrimination against British residents of Tientsin in the matter of food supplies and seach and seizure.

At the same time diplomatic advances received in Tokyo from London stated that Britain was ready to agree to any reasonable suggestions for settlement of the Tientsin affair if Tokyo would deal with the dispute as a "local incident."

If Japan is unwilling to take this stand, the advances hinted, Britain might be compelled to resort to economic pressure.

SEES PREMIER TOO

Arima conferred with Emperor Hirohito from 2 p. m. until 3:15 p. m. Upon leaving the palace, he went into conference with Premier Hirokuma.

Emphasis was given to America's indignation by the fact that the representations were written, rather than verbal as in the case of denunciations regarding the Tientsin situation.

The first note called sharp attention to recent Japanese bombings of American property in Nippon's undeclared war on China.

The second objected to three Japanese warships cutting off supplies from the Island of Kulangsu, on which the International Settlement at Amoy is situated.

British Cabinet Weighs Jap Crisis, Soviet Pact

LONDON, June 20 (AP).—The foreign affairs committee of the cabinet met today for the second successive day to consider both the Tientsin crisis and negotiations in Moscow for a British-French-Russian mutual assistance plan.

Informed sources said Britain was awaiting an explanation of Japan's intentions in the blockade of the British concession at Tientsin before taking any retaliatory action.

No reply having yet been received, the ministerial discussion dealt primarily with steps to ensure an adequate food supply for Britons in the blockaded concession.

Government officials expressed hope Tokyo would answer before the weekly meeting of the full cabinet tomorrow.

(Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, British ambassador to Tokyo, conferred today with Japanese Foreign Minister Hiroshi Arima. Sir Robert was said to have set forth his views on the Tientsin issue and to have been told Arima would consider them.)

In Moscow, Sir William Seeds and Paul Emilie Naggier, British and French ambassadors, continued discussions, but no new arrangements were known to have been made for them to renew mutual assistance negotiations with Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet premier and foreign commissar.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes from the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems regularly in the Boston American.

$500 Prize in R. I. Man's Cookie Bag

PROVIDENCE, June 20 (AP)

—Police here are looking for a man who asked for half a dozen raisin squares in a market last night and got a paper bag full of $500 instead. John Cardello, 29-year-old clerk, handed the unidentified customer the wrong package—one containing cash register collections. Now he would like to know where to deliver the raisin squares—and collect the $500.

HUNDREDS BATTLE HOUSING OUSTER

Threatened with forcible eviction today, more than 300 families, including hundreds of children, still occupied condemned dwellings on sites of model housing projects in Charlestown, South Boston and Roxbury.

Defiant and desperate tenants, lacking money to move and with no place to find shelter other than in their present homes, stormed Boston Housing Authority branch offices in the three affected areas. Harassed agents and social workers in charge of the office admitted themselves at a loss as to how to cope with the situation.

Weeping mothers and worried fathers kept asking the same question over and over:

"What are we going to do?"

"Where are we going to go?"

"Who is going to put us out—and when?"

No one in authority could be found to answer any of these insistent inquiries.

At the Boston headquarters of the BHA it was announced merely that members of the housing commission could not be reached.

The only information available for the general public or for those families facing eviction was the official record of legal steps taken to date.

That record showed that about May 15 the Boston Housing Authority seized by right of eminent domain 847 buildings occupied by 1279 families, including approximately 4700 persons.

On or about May 26, evictions notices were sent to these families—674 of them in Charlestown, 324 in South Boston and 279 in Roxbury.

The notices informed tenants condemned dwellings must be vacated by June 20.

That "deadline" came today.

Branch offices of the BHA were set up to assist ousted families to find homes. In general, however, agents in charge of the offices reported they found "hostility" and "lack of co-operation" on the part of the persons they were supposed to assist.

Today's deadlock resulted.

Queen Talks To Daughters

LONDON, June 20 (AP)—The Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, with two big pieces of news to tell, talked by ship-to-shore telephone with their mother for ten minutes today.

The first was that they go out on a destroyer from Southampton Thursday to meet their returning royal parents, Queen Elizabeth and King George, and second, that they visited the zoo this morning and helped feed the animals. They tossed fish to the sea lions and fed the baby penguin and the antelope from a bottle.

(The King and Queen, aboard the Empress of Britain, rode a smooth sea in brilliant sunshine today. A light fog during the night did not hinder the ship, averaging close to 20 knots.)

Zelma O'Neal Given Divorce In Britain

LONDON, June 20 (AP)—Zelma O'Neal, United States actress, was granted a conditional decree of divorce by Justice Henn Collins today.

Her husband, Anthony Arnatt Bushell, English film actor, whom she charged with infidelity, did not defend the suit.

They were married in New York in 1928 and separated in 1935.

224 Refugees Land in France

BOULOGNE, France, June 20 (AP)—Two hundred and twenty-four German Jewish refugees landed from the liner Rhakotis today and were given temporary asylum by the French government.

They trans-shipped to the Rhakotis at Antwerp Saturday from the liner St. Louis, on which they made a futile voyage to Cuba. One hundred and sixty-two of the refugees accepted by France have applied to the United States for permission to settle there.

ST. NAZAIRES, France, June 20 (AP)—A band of 97 German and Czechoslovak Jews, who had been aboard the French steamer Flaminio since May 16 unsuccessfully seeking a refuge in the new world, landed to take up temporary residence in Western France.

PARIS, June 20 (AP)—About 450 German and Czechoslovak Jewish refugees boarded the British liner Reina Del Pacifico today for South American countries.

Manton Pleads For New Trial

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Former Federal Judge Martin T. Manton, convicted of conspiracy to sell judicial favors to litigants in the United States circuit court of appeals, made a personal plea today for a new trial.

Manton, who was convicted June 3, appeared before Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut for sentence. Standing rigidly erect, he read a prepared statement in support of a motion to set aside the jury's verdict.

The maximum penalty which can be imposed is two years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

NERVES

Millions of people are suffering from "nerves" and don't know what to do about it. Scientists have recently proven that many conditions of nervousness such as neuritis, neuritis, insomnia, fatigue, loss of appetite, constant worry, constipation and many muscular aches and pains are due to lack of certain vital food substances, which, when taken by the proper method, give amazing relief. Neural-Aid, an inexpensive, DRUGLESS preparation contains these all-important food elements. Builders who clip this ad and bring it in can obtain a FREE SAMPLE of Neural-Aid and full information.

LISTS 14 CHARGES AGAINST CALLAHAN

(By Associated Press)

Governor Saltonstall's office announced today that he would bring 14 charges against Public Works Commissioner William F. Callahan which would be disclosed when public hearings open Monday on the Governor's removal proceedings against Callahan.

Gubernatorial Secretary John Rowe said the hearings would get underway at 9:30 a. m. and that a special three-man commission which charged "waste" and "laxity" in Callahan's administration would present the charges.

The list of 14 counts on which the governor will attempt to oust the $7500-a-year Democratic-appointed commissioner was sent to Callahan today so that he could prepare his defense.

A source close to the governor said one of the charges would allege "gross extravagance" in the handling of contracts under a $14,250,000 hurricane-flood damage appropriation.

In its report, the three-man commission the governor named to make an "efficiency study" of the public works department, charged millions of dollars were wasted under Callahan's administration, and assailed so-called "gift" contracts handed out without competitive bidding.

As much as $600,000, the commission report said, could have been saved on some parts of the reparation program, specifically in the contracts dealing with tree and stump removal.

Big Duty on Arms Planned by Britain

LONDON, June 20 (AP)—The British government acted today to put teeth in Prime Minister Chamberlain's pledge of April 26 to take the profit out of war.

A government white paper outlined a 60 per cent duty on the excess profits of all large armament firms. The proposal is to be embodied in the annual finance bill now before the House of Commons.

Alexander Woollcott

NEW YORK, June 29. When Alexander Woollcott and Red Challenor met recently, at a party, the party was in a row to form him. "Now, my dear little children," Woollcott asked the quintuplets, "which one of you is the smartest?" One of the quintuplets responded, "No, Marie." "No, Marie is the smartest, eh?" said Woollcott. "What is YOUR name?" one answered, "Marie."

SIGMUND KLEIN, the body builder and instructor in weight lifting, was visited by a young man who inquired how long it would take for him to learn how to lift 500 pounds. "That depends," Klein told him, "upon your present condition, and the amount of time you can devote to it." The man agreed to take a two-week course and completed it successfully. Klein never heard about him again until he read that the man had phoned again in the 11th month case where the nation's body builders are in a row to form him.

Do You Know What's Wrong With You?

By Elsie Robinson

WHAT'S WRONG with you? You don't know—and you're worried. So how do you charge? You don't feel things the way you used to. You don't warm up to people or things. There's a coldness in you, a numbness like a creeping paralysis, and it scares you stiff. You aren't this way once. Why, you used to be the life of the party—raucous, excited, out a kick out of everything. Life was one big bang after another? Now, you're cold as a clam! Don't care, half the way, whether school keeps or not! Of course you go through the gestures, put on an act, pretend to be enthusiastic. But it's no use. You don't really give a hoot. Things that would have burned you up once, with rage, excitement or delight, don't touch you now. You feel frozen. Sometimes you can't even be interested in those you love best. And it terrifies you.

WHAT'S WRONG? Nothing except your own ignorance of human nature. You have the common but truly American notion that life's a flop unless you get a constant kick out of it... unless there's a continual surge of emotion. But human beings weren't designed for "constant kicks"... couldn't take 'em if they were available.

I repeated, "I'M BORN AS A PERSON, AS PEOPLE ARE BORN. FEELINGS WERE MEANT TO BE A SPECIAL TREASURE, NOT A PERMANENT SERVANT. And there's a reason. Mechanically speaking, your feelings are the product of your countless glands, those glands manufacture joy, anger, delight, pity and other emotions as your scorching-hot battery manufacturers do. Overwork either and you'll 'run out of juice.' The batteries MUST have a rest."

Passive intervals between emotions are absolutely necessary. For the sake of your health, you must take these "rest" periods. As the car needs a rest, so do you. The more you use your feelings, the more you need to rest. It's a simple matter of understanding and controlling your emotions, experience.

That goes for you, too, not just as we, as your publisher, wishes. It's an obligation to let your publisher know how you feel about your battery.

WHY ARE YOU so worried? You're worried because you're not taking care of your feelings. You're not taking care of your feelings. You're not taking care of your feelings. You're not taking care of your feelings.

Fur Styles Unfolding

By ANNIE BRINK

AS I AM in the fur fashion world is concerned, it is time to look for the fur styles of 1935. For with the first check of summer the fashionists set out their new mood and their pick of the right fur and the coat which will have your friends all a-gape when they see you smart to town.

The fur fashionists of 1935 are not only concerned with the fur, but with the style of the fur. They are looking for the fur that will be the most stylish, the fur that will be the most practical, the fur that will be the most comfortable. They are looking for the fur that will be the most beautiful, the fur that will be the most expensive, the fur that will be the most popular.

When you are looking for the fur of 1935, you are looking for the fur that will be the most stylish, the fur that will be the most practical, the fur that will be the most comfortable. You are looking for the fur that will be the most beautiful, the fur that will be the most expensive, the fur that will be the most popular.

About the British Habit of Yelling Foul

ONCE MORE THE CAUSE OF INTERNATIONAL amity has been set back half the distance to the goal-line—this time by a spindle-shanked British leg-racer named Sydney Wooderson, who was (1) jostled, (2) wobbled or (3) came out of puff in Princeton's Mile of the Millennium.

AUSTEN LAKE

Sydney hollered "Foul!"
Sydney's trainer said he was jolted!

Sydney said he would never race in the U. S. again, on the assumption that he couldn't get a fair shake from those vulgarian Yankees!

This would be deplorable if, over the years, British Sportsmen hadn't lifted the same plaintive wail in American competition. Phillip Fallova Scott, the pale-eyed, fainting fireman from London, was first. Phillip cupped his leather fighting mittens to his groin after the race.

The third in these "We was Robbed" series came from Tommy Farr after losing a 15-round decision to Joe Louis. Tommy and his coterie of London newsmen yelled outrage over the decision. Though his face was a fiery mask his nose looked like a foot and he had two little crimson mouths opened in his brows. Tommy said he had pecked and poked faster than he had been pecked and poked and therefore had earned a mathematical edge. The official verdict said "No!"

And now comes Wooderson and another "No!"

About "Uncle Shylock"

WELL, THE CAUSE OF INTERNATIONAL AMITY has been set back half the distance to the goal-line—this time by a spindle-shanked British leg-racer named Sydney Wooderson, who was (1) jostled, (2) wobbled or (3) came out of puff in Princeton's Mile of the Millennium.

There Was Dorando's Case

THIS, I REALIZE, HAS LITTLE TO DO with Wooderson and his compatriots' habit of hollering "Foul!" except as it may show that the British do not come into court with their hands exactly clean in matters of pure sportsmanship. There was that memorable incident of the marathon race in the London Olympic games when the Italian, Dorando, who was leading Johnny Hayes, the American, collapsed a few yards from the end and was unable to finish under his own power. At that point certain persons who, unfortunately, were identified as being neither Bulgarians nor Turks, nor even Italians, but true British sportsmen, picked up Dorando and carried him over the finish.

The Americans naturally obtained an unfavorable impression of the special kind of sportsmanship which they had been reading about. Nor was this impression dispelled by the explanation that the Britons concerned had been swept away by admiration for Dorando's pluck. Dorando's pluck was described in the London Journal as a very close imitation of true British pluck. So, therefore, in absence of a convenient way in which to rule out of the game, Dorando was carried across by hand and subsequently disqualified.

Sportsmanship is not a natural attribute of any race but a studied pose and civilization has not gone so far that any nation can rely on its sportsmanship at all times. The quadrennial squabble in the Olympic games illustrates this and next year the cause of international amity will be set back half the distance to the goal once more in the Helsinki games. But what is half the distance when the goal is only a tiny anomaly. Defeated British sportsmen wouldn't go away happy unless given cause to yell "Foul!"

Rideout Bump Accident, But Cost Briton Chance

By JACK CONWAY

The slow motion pictures of the famous "mile of the century" at Palmer Stadium, Princeton, show that Sydney Wooderson of England was bumped by Elaine Rideout of Texas.

As the bump occurred, Wooderson was entering the turn of the final lap as he was thrown off his stride and put out of competition.

The incident occurred in the second of the four films which were shown when he would have had a chance to win the mile. Back in his dressing room after the race, Wooderson said that he was forced off the track by Elaine Rideout of Texas. These are the words of a true sportsman who failed to win after a noble try and who does not wish to be placed in a position where anybody may declare he is offering an alibi for his defeat.

Golf Ace? He Bets It's Cinch

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., June 20 (AP)—Harry Gonder, Michigan City pro, is going out today to try and prove that "anyone can make a hole in one."

On June 4, William Volts shot a hole-in-one, and Volts is just like many millions of others—that hole-in-one made up for countless sevens and eights, so he talked about it, loud and long. Gonder tired of that, so he bet $100,000 he could duplicate the feat. He started this morning and left about on the 116-yard tenth hole at the Beverly Shores Country Club until he comes off or collapses.

BAGPIPERS LIVE TROUT TO DOOM

By DARK MONTREAL

Latest equipment for the tackle box is a set of the bagpipes of old Scotland.

The story—of course it's a fish story—is told by T. E. P. Pringle, of Boston, general agent in New England of the Canadian National Railways.

Being a Scotsman himself, and an angler forsooth, Mr. Pringle would certainly not lend the authenticity of his name to anything imaginative. Well, here goes, ladies.

Twins on the Prince Edward Island, the wee bit beauty Garden of the Gulf, where Mr. Pringle—just now back from lying the long line for salmon—happened upon the mon angling for the bit trout in the water of Kildare.

A rod and the mon in a bonnie and over his shoulder the braw pipes of Scotland, and casting the long line he was with no fish troubling to lookit twice at his fly.

"Try them a bit tune, mon," suggested The Pringle. "Gae them the bit tune o' the pipes."

BETTER THAN ROD

Well, that the piper fisherman lay down his bit rod and went to the pipes. Mon, sweet it was, proper, and strong to the ear, maybe, and alien to the forest, like be, but a tune of old Scotland, the while. A few strathspeys, and then a sudden he hits on the strains of a Maids o' Kintail with his cheeks puffed like a grampus and his hair on end like the winnies are running through it.

And up from the river bed the trout began to rise, dapping the surface like spats of rain and still skirling the pipes, one hand he playing, the piper-fisherman casts the long line and hooks the first bit beauty. And 20 trout he takes there, playing the pipes the while. Eraynoo, that's the story as Mon Pringle tells it and you can bait your hook with it or put it in your creel, whichever you see fit. For my own part, after an unsuccessful Sunday on a water nearer at hand than Kildare, I have asked Mr. William McAuley, the noted horse expert of The Record, and a handy Scotsman, to select for me not only a set of the pipes but a pair of kilts, as well. And the little lady adds, no doot the kilts will be more becoming than the khaki shorts I sometimes wear.

BASS RUN IMPROVES

So much for nonsense. The striped bass run has improved a little locally. The local salmon fishing has tapered off, quite sharply. Local trout fishing is no better than fair, and better in the ponds than in the streams. The biggest of the pollock have apparently passed along on their way down to the Bay of Fundy. The tautog run in Massachusetts Bay is beginning to pick up with some middlin' good ones taken off Massanut Point on Sunday. Others were taken off the sand catcher at the Sandwich entrance to Cape Cod canal. No record of blues, yet. More but smaller squeteague at Marion.

From the number and size of the small mouth black bass hooked in Massachusetts ponds during the last two weeks, I will venture the prediction of a fine bass season starting July 1. I've observed at least a dozen good bass brought to net by trout fishermen and in each died the angler very carefully handled the fish before returning to it the water. Good sportsmanship isn't hard to find. George Bates, of Longmeadow, report a nice catch of tautog, scup and sea bass at Providence Point Sunday.

MAIL FROM THE CREEK

R. T. East Milton—I haven't written anything about the flounder fishing because I supposed every body knew where and how to take the flatfish, especially this season when they seem to be more numerous and larger in size than for several years. Pemberton is an excellent spot. So is the State Pier at Buzzards Bay.

FLAT FISH OFF WINTHROP

There are some nice ones off Winthrop where, recently, Ralph Somber and three companions, caught two bushel-basketful in a few hours. Almost any tidal inlet and bay will provide good flounder fishing and big ones may be taken outside the surf of the sand beaches. The flatfish off the sandy bottom seem to be preferred. I don't know a spot close at hand where big fluke may be taken. A few are caught by the Monomoy Point surf casters. Blood worms, sea worms and clams are fine flounder bait. The hook should be attached to the line by a leader tied above the sinker but the leader should be of sufficient length to permit the bait to lie on the bottom.

PGA CHOICE OF SNEAD

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. V., June 20 (AP)—Sam Snead said today he would stay in this country to play in the Professional Golfers Association tournament instead of competing in the British open.

"After thinking it over," said the big slammer, "I believe the sporting thing to do is to stay here and play in the PGA. "But I'll see Cotton (Henry Cotton, British star) next year." Snead said he had looked forward to the ocean trip because "I needed a rest badly and I figured I would get one on the boat."

LIFFORD BEATS VILLA

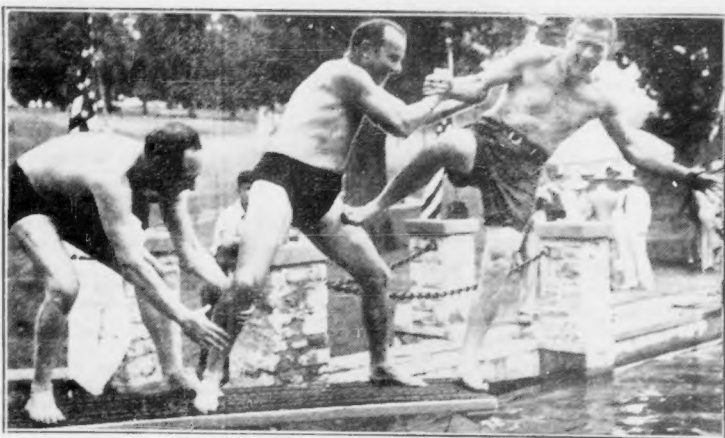

ST. STEPHEN, N. B., June 20 (AP)—Johnny Lifford, 137, won an eight-round decision over Pancho Villa, 140 of Waterville, Maine.

HAVEMAYER YACHT MISSING

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—All except one of the starters in the Cape May challenge cup ocean race was accounted for today when the U. S. coast guard received word that George E. Roosevelt's schooner, Mistress, was anchored in Cape May harbor.

However, nothing has been heard since yesterday morning from Charles F. Havemayer's 32-foot cutter, Apache. The three others checked in yesterday, with Rudolph J. Schaefer's Edna II, a 68-foot yawl, the winner on corrected time. Edna took 87 hours 45 minutes to sail the 403 miles from Brenton

Myopia Takes On Dedham

For the benefit of sports fans who like speed, bodily contact, thrills and spills every minute of play, Saturday afternoon's polo game between Myopia and Dedham on the Myopia field in Hamilton, starting at 3:30, is the best bet so far this season.

The rivalry between Myopia and Dedham is the longest and most spirited in New England polo circles, which these two clubs have dominated for close to half a century. Competition for New England's most prized polo trophy, the William Cameron Forbes Cup, will be launched by these historic rivals, who will field their strongest lineups of the current season.

For the first time this campaign, in which they have split even in six preliminary matches, the Dedhamites will have the services of Captain R. Bennett Forbes and Jack Lewis of the Harvard varsity, which bowed to Yale, 5-12, last Saturday in the national intercollegiate championship final at Dedham, N. J.

Robert Almy, chairman of Dedham's polo committee, and Dudley Milliken, who have been outstanding this season, give Dedham a strong defense, with the Harvard stars concentrating on the attack.

Bees Tackle Cubs Today

CHICAGO, June 20—Boston Bees moved into town today to test out the pennant possibilities of the Cubs. The latter are trailing the leading Reds by nine and one-half games but Manager Gabby Hartnett has hopes his club will hit it's stride before July 4th. In the majors the club leading on that date is conceded the flag but Hartnett has hopes his charges will find itself and close the gap. Fasseau is Hartnett's choice to hurl for the locals while Casey Stengel is counting on Shoffner to start his club off with a victory in his three-game series. The pitching record of neither hurler is impressive though it must be said in justice to the Boston pitcher that hard luck has been on his trail all season.

Reef Light vessel to Five Fathom Bank Lightship off Cape May, N. J., and back to Montauk Point, the finishing line. Her corrected time was 87 hours, 17 minutes, 52 seconds.

The other finishers were D. Spencer, Herzer's Maudood II and DeCoursey Faler's Nina.

LOU HIDES MAYO FIND

ROCHESTER, Minn., June 20 (INS)—Lou Gehrig was New York bound today to report to the Yankees on the findings of a clinical examination he underwent at the Mayo brothers clinic here.

The famous first sacker of the champions, who benched himself a few weeks ago when he felt his platoon was to go to shuff, entered the clinic last week to see whether an examination would reveal any physical disability.

The examination was concluded, but at Gehrig's request the findings were withheld. Gehrig celebrated his 36th birthday last night.

Yale Varsity In Easy Workout

GALES FERRY, Conn., June 20 (AP)—Coach Ed Leader sent his Yale crew charges, now at peak form for the regatta with Harvard Friday, through a leisurely drill on the Thames river.

The varsity and junior varsity crews were sent three miles down the river at a 24 beat, and on the return run assumed a racing speed for just one minute.

The freshman and combination boats paddled the five miles down to the submarine base and practiced racing starts on the return trip.

It was Leader's first day with the crew in nearly two weeks, he having returned from a New London hospital where he underwent an appendectomy June 11.

RED TOP, Conn., June 20 (AP)—The Harvard varsity crew broke up the four-mile course where it will meet Yale Friday into pairs as it began a gradual tapering-off of the two-week training period.

Cosch Tom Bolles sent the crew through a simulation of the first minute of the race and the last minute and a half, as well as the last and middle miles of the course.

Earlier all four crews rowed three miles at a stretch, practiced starts and raced through a few minute miles.
